On behalf of the Sport Inclusion Australia Board and Staff, it is my pleasure to give you an update of our work thus far this year.

Some of the key points - we have established the Global Games Sports Company Pty Ltd to conduct the Inas Global Games 2019 and are now identifying potential Board members to assist oversee the organisation of the Global Games in Brisbane.

I am pleased to report that national inclusive programs continue to flourish and we led off in 2016 with the Futsal Nationals in Sydney, followed by the Australian Tennis Championships at Melbourne Park where World Number 1 Female Kelly Wren and World Number 1 Male Archie Graham continued with wins at the ATC. Sport Inclusion Australia is particularly thankful for the ongoing support of the Lord's Taverners Victoria of this prestigious event.

February saw the Ivor Burge Championships in Ipswich with an upset in the Women's event - NSW defeating Vic Metro for the first time in six years. Vic Metro defeated South Australia in the Men's.

While this event took place the Sport Inclusion Australia Board met with key Queensland Government officials to discuss the Global Games and key Basketball Australia officials to discuss inclusion into the future.

It is wonderful to be able to showcase these elite events to promote the ease with which inclusion can occur.

I wish you all the best for the remainder of 2016 and of course a happy Easter.

Nowra Gala Regatta - 18-19 February 2016

Nowra Community Sailing Club, Shoalhaven River, NSW.

This Gala Regatta conducted at the Nowra Community Sailing Club on the Shoalhaven River was the first sailing regatta to utilise the INAS classification process. To be eligible to compete sailors needed to be on the Inas Master List, or be eligible to be on the Provisional Master List. Racing was conducted by a Yachting Australia accredited National Race Officer under the International Rules of Racing.

There were ten entrants, including an enthusiastic team from Hong Kong who unfortunately were unable to be assessed in their homeland prior to travelling to Australia. The Gala Regatta was a two day event with coaching and practise racing on Thursday conducted by Terry Peek who has much experience coaching sailors with an intellectual disability. On Friday five races were scheduled in each division.

Division 1 solo (Hansa 2.3) The experience of the four sailors in this division ranged from novice to vast sailing experience. Allister Peek of ACT won each race and showed great sportsmanship in assisting the other sailors. The other sailors in this division gained a great deal of experience for following regattas.

Div 1 Results - 1 Allister Peek ACT, 2 Nathaniel Quan Dobroyd, 3 Thomas Drivas Shoalhaven

Division 2 2-Person: 2 Inas sailors (Hansa 303); As there was only one entry for this division, Melissa Saxby and Alsye Nelson sailed in division 3.

Division 3 2-Person: 1 Inas sailor + 1 companion sailor (Hansa 303) This division is to support sailors who are not yet confident to sail solo or with another sailor so they are accompanied by an able bodied companion sailor. In this division three teams from Hong Kong competed, together with two teams from Australia. The 6th team was Melissa and Alsye, 2 sailors together. They achieved a commendable 2nd place, winning over the other teams with able bodied companion sailors.

Div 3 Results - 1 Greg Carruthers / Chau Yen Fai Hong Kong, 2 Melissa Saxby / Alsye Nelson Port Stephens & Pittwater, 3 Alexandra Jones / Mike Rawbone Hong Kong. All competitors then competed in the NSW Hansa Championships which was an open event for sailors of all abilities. (Photos taken by David Turner)

On the road to Rio! Hobart (Tas) has been declared the home of shot put after a record breaking performance by Todd Hodgetts (Tas) at the Briggs Athletics Classic. Hodgett's best effort of 16.33m improves the F20 para-athletics world record for athletes with intellectual disabilities. Continuing the form that saw him win gold at the Doha 2015 IPC Athletics World Championships, the reigning Paralympic champion has continued success in his sights this season as he prepares for Rio 2016. "I didn't think it went that far. It felt like a terrible throw, I thought I'd missed hitting it right, so to see the mark was great. There's bigger things to come for sure. It's great," Hodgetts said. "I don't think a world record has been broken in athletics in Tasmania so to lay claim to that is pretty amazing."

Carol Tanner Memorial Swim Carnival. Sunday 7th February saw the annual Carol Tanner Swimming Carnival take place at the Scottsdale Pool. All Ability Rowing Relay - Congratulations to Wade Ruffin from Urban Rowing and Peter Hicks from Rowing Queensland who led the organisation of the inaugural All Ability Rowing Relay event on Thursday 3rd December 2015. Held on International Day for People with a Disability at Brisbane's Queen Street Mall, the event was a huge success!

Life Stream is incredibly proud of the 7 athletes who represented the organisation in this event - Mitchell James (Tennis), Shaun McKee (AFL, Futsal, Skiing), Archie Graham (Tennis), Jack Ireland (Swimming), Tom Burrows (Athletics), Alan Duffy (Lawn Bowls) and Zack Kimber (Swimming, AFL). To say that each of our guys put in 100% would be massively underselling the determination and effort that they each contributed to the team's performance. Well done to all involved! Life Stream was delighted to welcome a number of VIP's, who came along and jumped on the ergos to assist in the team effort! These included Hayley Kopmeyer from Brisbane Women's Row, Dan McStay from the Brisbane Lions, Darcy Wruck and Madeleine Edmunds from QAS Rowing Squad.

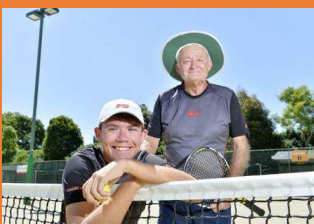

Stats for Team Life Stream Total distance rowed- 38,841 metres; Total team rowing time-2 hours 38 minutes; Average time; 2 minutes 4.7 seconds per 500 metres; Fastest split time-Darcy from QAS, 1 minute 32 seconds per 500 metres.

ATHLETE PROFILE- ARCHIE GRAHAM

World number one tennis player for people with an intellectual disability

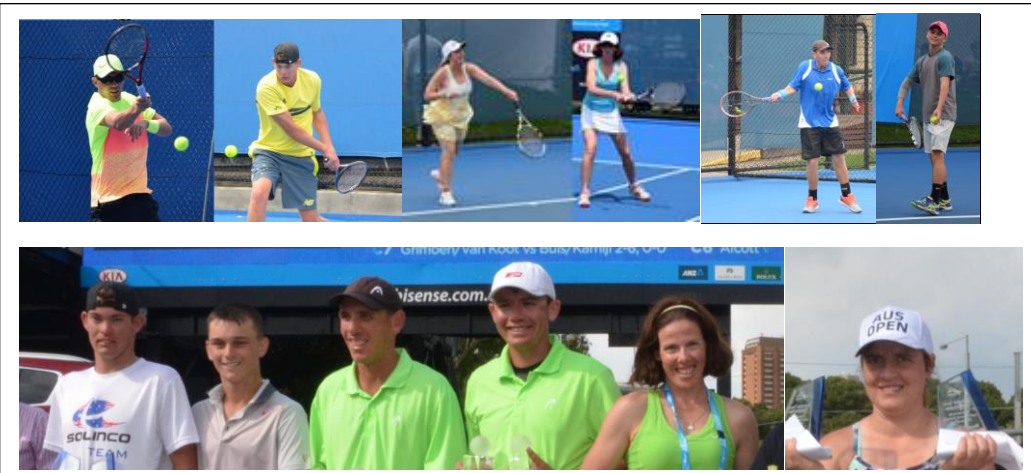

Terrific Team: Archie Graham with coach Stan Cuthbert. Off the court, Cuthbert said the young tennis player showed a maturity second-to-none. "What impresses me most about Archie is the fact that he's a good sportsman as well as a great player," he said. "He's always had a fierce desire to improve, he's done very well."

Ipswich tennis ace in box seat - Imagine there was a young, talented Australian tennis player who left their ego behind to become the best in the world. Mature, despite his success, and dedicated to improving himself and passing on his love of the sport to others. Ipswich is home to just that man and he's not done yet. Archie Graham, 22, has grown up playing tennis at the Ipswich District Junior Tennis Association Courts. He is now the number one tennis player with an intellectual disability in the world. Despite already holding the world number one tag, the young tennis ace said there was still plenty to improve. "I've still got a fair way to go but I'm getting there," he said. "I'd like to get my forehand right, Stan and I have been working hard on that. "I just want to keep improving every part of my game." Graham discovered his love for tennis while playing on his grandmother's court with his family. "My grandmother always had the love for tennis and it kept growing through the family," he said. "My mum played at one stage and my sister and brother, everyone played, so I guess I was born into it." In January, Archie won the Australian Open for people with an intellectual disability for the fourth time in a row, and the doubles tournament for the second year in a row. In three months, Graham will travel to the United States to compete in the world championships to defend his number one ranking. At the same event in Ecuador last year Graham won the singles, doubles and mixed doubles events. Graham said the hot Australian summer had helped prepare him to defend his title. "Going to Ecuador last year was the first time I had been overseas," Graham said. "It was right next to the equator and it was stinking hot. "We get that kind of heat here and I think I handled it well." On top of the world championships in June, Graham will also compete at the QLD Open and later in the year, the NSW Open Championships. Since his win in Melbourne, Graham has been practicing five days a week at the Ipswich courts where he volunteers to coach junior players. Graham owes much of his success to good friend and coach Stan Cuthbert. "This is my 7th year playing and I've been with the same coach," Graham said. Cuthbert first met Graham while coaching at the family tennis court in Ipswich and said he recognised his desire to compete early on. "I used to do a bit of coaching down at Archie's parent's court and that's where we started," Cuthbert said. "He always wanted to work hard and not very often do you get that determination. When things don't go right, to be able to come back and keep playing."
